Dear Matthew Byrne:

We wanted to take the opportunity to thank you, and your company, for your generous donation to the students of the Del E. Webb School of Construction at Arizona State University. Your donation will play a vital role in allowing students to participate in this year's Associated School of Construction (ASC) Student Competition. Arizona State University will be able to send eleven teams with roughly eighty students to compete in several problem categories, including: Design Build, Commercial, Heavy Civil, Concrete Solutions, Bridge & Marine, Preconstruction Services, Mixed-Use, Integrated Project Delivery, Risk Management, LEED, and Virtual Design & Construction.

As you may know, the ASC competition has developed into one of the largest construction management and engineering events in the nation. Over the duration of four days, the ASC event allows students to gain invaluable insight to real work construction projects while showcasing their comprehensive construction competency. In addition, various construction companies will the opportunity to observe our students compete against a wide range of talent from some of the nation's best construction programs.

To prepare for this year's competition in Reno, our student led teams reached out to construction industry companies throughout the Arizona valley to receive training, conduct practice problems, and network with potential hiring companies. Your sponsorship aided in enhancing the technical skills, team building capacity, and leadership development for every student involved in the ASC competition. In addition to competing against other schools, ASU students will be able to use the ASC competition to obtain various internships to complement and further experience and education. With the generous support of people like you, our students will have every opportunity to succeed in the construction industry. This experience undoubtedly helped build a strong foundation that every student will carry with them as they begin their future careers.

Thank you again, and we look forward to your continued support.

Sincerely,
